

1           It's not a very big area. The door
2           is right here, and the space -- this is where the 3           space is for any tables. And they already had a
4           picnic table there.

5           So I told him, you know, to put it
6           there. And as I've done -- I've had the pool,
7           like, 23 years. I closed the door, and he went 8           out.

9           I didn't lock it. I didn't lock the 10          slider to the house, either.

11          And then I don't remember -- he 12          asked -- whether he asked at that time, Do you 13          want me to bring in some chairs then or if he 14          asked me later. I really don't know. I don't 15          recall that.

16          And at first I told him no. And 17          then, he is a very nice person, and he kept 18          insisting, "No problem. No problem. You know, 19          we'll do the chairs."

20          And I said, "Okay", and I went back
21          to the kitchen. And the next thing I knew is I 22          heard Alexandra, you know, scream, "Who left the 23          door open?"

24          "Where's Marissa? Who left the door
